01 First meetings

Introduce yourself, ask one natural follow-up question, and close warmly.

REAL-LIFE MOMENT

Maya: Hi, I am Maya. Is this your first class?

Leo: Yes, it is. I am Leo. Nice to meet you.

Language to keep

I am... for identity. I am from... for origin. What about you? keeps the conversation moving.

Try it yourself

Write a four-line introduction. Include your name, city, one interest, and one question.

Say every answer aloud once. Fluency grows when written language becomes spoken language.

02 Daily routines

Describe a normal weekday with clear time phrases.

REAL-LIFE MOMENT

Noor: What time do you start work?

Sam: I usually start at nine, but on Fridays I start later.

Language to keep

Use the present simple for routines. Put usually before the main verb: I usually walk.

Try it yourself

Write five routine sentences. Add always, usually, sometimes, rarely, or never.

Say every answer aloud once. Fluency grows when written language becomes spoken language.

03 At a cafe

Order politely, change an item, and ask for the bill.

REAL-LIFE MOMENT

Server: What can I get you?

You: Could I have a small coffee and a cheese sandwich, please?

Language to keep

Could I have...? is a calm, useful request. Add please and thank you naturally.

Try it yourself

Build an order with one drink, one food item, one change, and a closing thank-you.

Say every answer aloud once. Fluency grows when written language becomes spoken language.

04 Shopping clearly

Ask about price, size, and alternatives without translating.

REAL-LIFE MOMENT

You: Do you have this in a medium?

Assistant: Let me check. Would you like another color?

Language to keep

Use Do you have...? for availability and How much is it? for price.

Try it yourself

Write three questions you could ask in a clothing shop and answer them.

Say every answer aloud once. Fluency grows when written language becomes spoken language.

05 Finding the way

Ask for directions and confirm the next step.

REAL-LIFE MOMENT

You: Excuse me, how do I get to the station?

Local: Go straight, then turn left at the bank.

Language to keep

Direction verbs: go straight, turn left, turn right, cross, continue, and stop at.

Try it yourself

Describe the route from your home to a nearby shop in four steps.

Say every answer aloud once. Fluency grows when written language becomes spoken language.

06 Travel day

Handle a simple station or airport exchange calmly.

REAL-LIFE MOMENT

Traveler: Which platform is the train to Oxford?

Agent: Platform six. It leaves at ten twenty.

Language to keep

Use Which...? to choose and What time...? to ask about schedules.

Try it yourself

Create a mini travel dialogue with a destination, departure time, platform, and thank-you.

Say every answer aloud once. Fluency grows when written language becomes spoken language.

Your seven-day speaking plan

Repeat one chapter each day. On day seven, combine the moments into one imaginary day and speak for two minutes without reading.

|       |                       |
|-------|-----------------------|
| Day 1 | Introduce yourself    |
| Day 2 | Describe your morning |
| Day 3 | Order lunch           |
| Day 4 | Ask about a product   |
| Day 5 | Explain a route       |
| Day 6 | Plan a journey        |
| Day 7 | Tell the whole story  |
